DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 21-84 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bansal (US 2002/0000468 A1).

Bansal discloses a wireless communication device comprising, inter alia, an audible input device coupled to a processor and configured to receive voice messages and voice commands. The processor is programmed to retrieve a first voice command and to generate a request signal and to cause a transmitter to transmit said request signal to a remote computer

Art Unit: 3625

(pars. [0022] and [0033])). The processor is further programmed to determine a destination for transmitting said request signal (par. [0022]). Bansal discloses an alternative embodiment in which an optical scanner and optical character recognition is used to generate a request signal (par. [0021]).

Bansal discloses a method of using such wireless communication device to facilitate purchase of an article of commerce (pars. [0052]-[0055]).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

U.S. Patent No. 5,983,200 discloses "natural language commands" (col. 3, lines 58-67).

US 2001/0034603 A1 discloses a voice activated Hypermedia system. Voice control information is encoded in a grammar language and is interpreted by a Web client user-agent that translates user utterances into client actions (par. [0010]).

U.S. Patent No. 6,081,629 disclose a handheld scanner and accompanying remote access agent (see Abstract).
